The News this week is filled with ads containing some extra good bargains. A subscriber told the editor the other day that he got as much worth from the advertising columns of his local paper as from the news feature and this is the case with many. There is not a week but that a careful reading of the ads in the News will save you money.

Rev. J. S. McMullen has moved to Clovis from Amarillo and will be pastor of the Adventist church here. Rev. McMullen has taken the charge formerly held here by Rev. Wilcox who left the day before Christmas for Lima, Peru, where he will have charge of missionary work for his church.

G. W. Singleton is home to spend a month or more after having been at Gallup for sometime. Mr. Singleton is a hunter for Clovis and says even though his business often calls him away from here, he is always on the job when it comes to saying good things for the best town in Eastern New Mexico.

M. Mandell left this week for his home at Albuquerque after a ten days visit here with his brothers, A. Mandell and Felix Mandell.

Some worth-while road work on Main street has been done this week under the supervision of City Marshal Sadler. Dirt has been thrown from the sides to the middle of the street and the street dragged.

JANUARY CLEARANCE SALE

Beginning Saturday, January 6th, and Continuing until Saturday, January 20th.

In spite of the fact that goods are still on the upward trend in price, and extremely scarce in some lines, we are going right ahead with our usual twice a year Clearance Sale. We have these sales twice yearly so that we may clear up on all broken lots of merchandise that is left from the season's selling; so that we may show nothing but new and up-to-date goods at the beginning of each season, hence we cut the price on the following lines. Some of the lots are small and they will not last long. Our advice is for you to be on hand promptly.

H. T. Dowd, buyer for the Clovis Hide House, made a trip to Elida Wednesday on business.

Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Bell were visitors to Amarillo one day last week. Mr. Bell transacted business there and they also visited relatives. They made the trip in a car and Mr. Bell says the rain was not as heavy up that way as in the Clovis country.

Fred W. James made a business trip to Fort Sumner Tuesday. He says that the land office over there is a busy place now since the section law has been passed. Mr. James says that 240 applications were received at the land office there on Tuesday of this week. At this rate it will not take long for the New Mexico land that is open now to be filed upon.

W. J. Martin who lives southeast of town was transacting business in Clovis Tuesday.

Geo. S. Taggard of the Cloud community was in town Wednesday. He made an appreciated visit to the News office and joined our list of subscribers.

W. A. Warren and family returned this week from Snyder, Texas, where they have been spending the holidays. Mr. Warren is owner of the Maize Poultry Food Company and moved here several weeks ago. He says that it is dry in the Snyder country and that it looked good to him when he got off the train at Clovis this week and saw the ground muddy. The rain, he said, did not extend very far into Texas.
